As companies accelerate their digital transformation (DX) initiatives and shift toward paperless operations, the importance of cloud services continues to grow. In response to these evolving trends and our customers' needs, we have recently obtained ISO/IEC 27017.

This Information Security Management System (ISMS) cloud security certification is an international standard that defines the security measures necessary for the secure use and provision of cloud services. By achieving this certification, we have received third-party recognition that our information security management system—including our cloud service operations framework—is fully compliant with global standards.
